For the purposes of reporting on the research project, the notional quantification of annual activities is 1,720 hours per year. Post-doc research contract holders organise their work in consultation with their Scientific supervisor in relation to the organisational aspects of the project. The performance of the research activity and collaboration in third mission activities must be self-certified monthly and validated by the Scientific supervisor.

Impact monitoring and evaluation will also be undertaken (participation, satisfaction, learning, and behaviour-change indicators), with periodic reports and operational recommendations to support the scalability of the initiatives.
