The Marco Polo Programme aims at distributing mobility scholarships, in order to promote research activities abroad for young UNIBO researchers.

Art. 2 - Hosting Institution
The scholarships are intended to finance research stays abroad at universities and public or private research centers (including sections and R&D centers of private companies) located in foreign countries.
Vatican City and the Republic of San Marino are not considered foreign countries.
Research stays in companies are excluded as well as the enrollment and attendance of study and/or training courses.
Upon request of the supervisor and approval of the Council of Department, it is possible to choose a maximum of two hosting structures for the indicated period, provided that they are located in the same geographical area.

Art. 3 - Selection eligibility requirements
Exclusively those who hold one of the positions indicated below can apply:
1. fixed-term researcher: holder of a contract stipulated with the University of Bologna according to the current Regulation in force, in application of art. 24, c. 3 of the law 29 December 2010, n. 240;
2. research fellow: holder of a contract for research fellowship stipulated with the University of Bologna according to the current Regulation for research grants;

3. PhD student: student enrolled in a PhD course with administrative headquarters at the University of Bologna.

The Marco Polo scholarship cannot be awarded for stays in the country of birth, citizenship, residence and domicile of the PhD student.

PhD students must submit the application by the end of the legal duration of the PhD course. All stays covered by the application must end within the same deadline.

PLEASE NOTE: Research fellows and PhD students whose contract is financed with external resources thanks to agreements with third parties that include the possibility of transferring results and industrial property rights can access the Marco Polo scholarship if the research activity, agreed with the supervisor, to be carried out during the stay abroad, is not necessarily and directly aimed at the research project in progress.

The subjects described in points 2 and 3 who are in the situation described above must attach to the application the self-certification, prepared according to the model available on the intranet page: https://intranet.unibo.it/RisorseUmane/Web7/Pagine/ProgrammaMarcoPolo.aspx

Candidates must meet the eligibility requirements for the selection by the expiry date of the call for selection and for the entire duration of the stay abroad.

The following three cases can occur:

1. If the beneficiary loses the eligibility requirement before the start of the stay, the application will not be considered valid. If the application has already been approved, the scholarship will be revoked.

2. If the beneficiary loses the eligibility requirement during the minimum period of three months of stay abroad, the scholarship is revoked.

3. If the eligibility requirement does not remain for the entire duration of the stay abroad, without prejudice to the minimum period of three months, the Department determines at its sole discretion whether to allow the continuation of the stay or to reduce the approved period.

Regarding this, the Department can decide beforehand a general conduct and report it in the call. If there is no previous resolution, the Department will rule on each single case.
